Regarding printing lighter colours onto darker coloured garments

Generally, all prints onto darker garments require a base layer to be printed in order to achieve an opaque bright ink coverage. Usually this layer will be charged as an extra print colour and an extra screen charge in your screen set up costs. There are very occasional circumstances where this convention does not apply (discharge inks for example)

Other services

Bagging, labelling and other associated services including any other type of print application are quoted on an individual basis on receipt job details.
